

Forthcoming

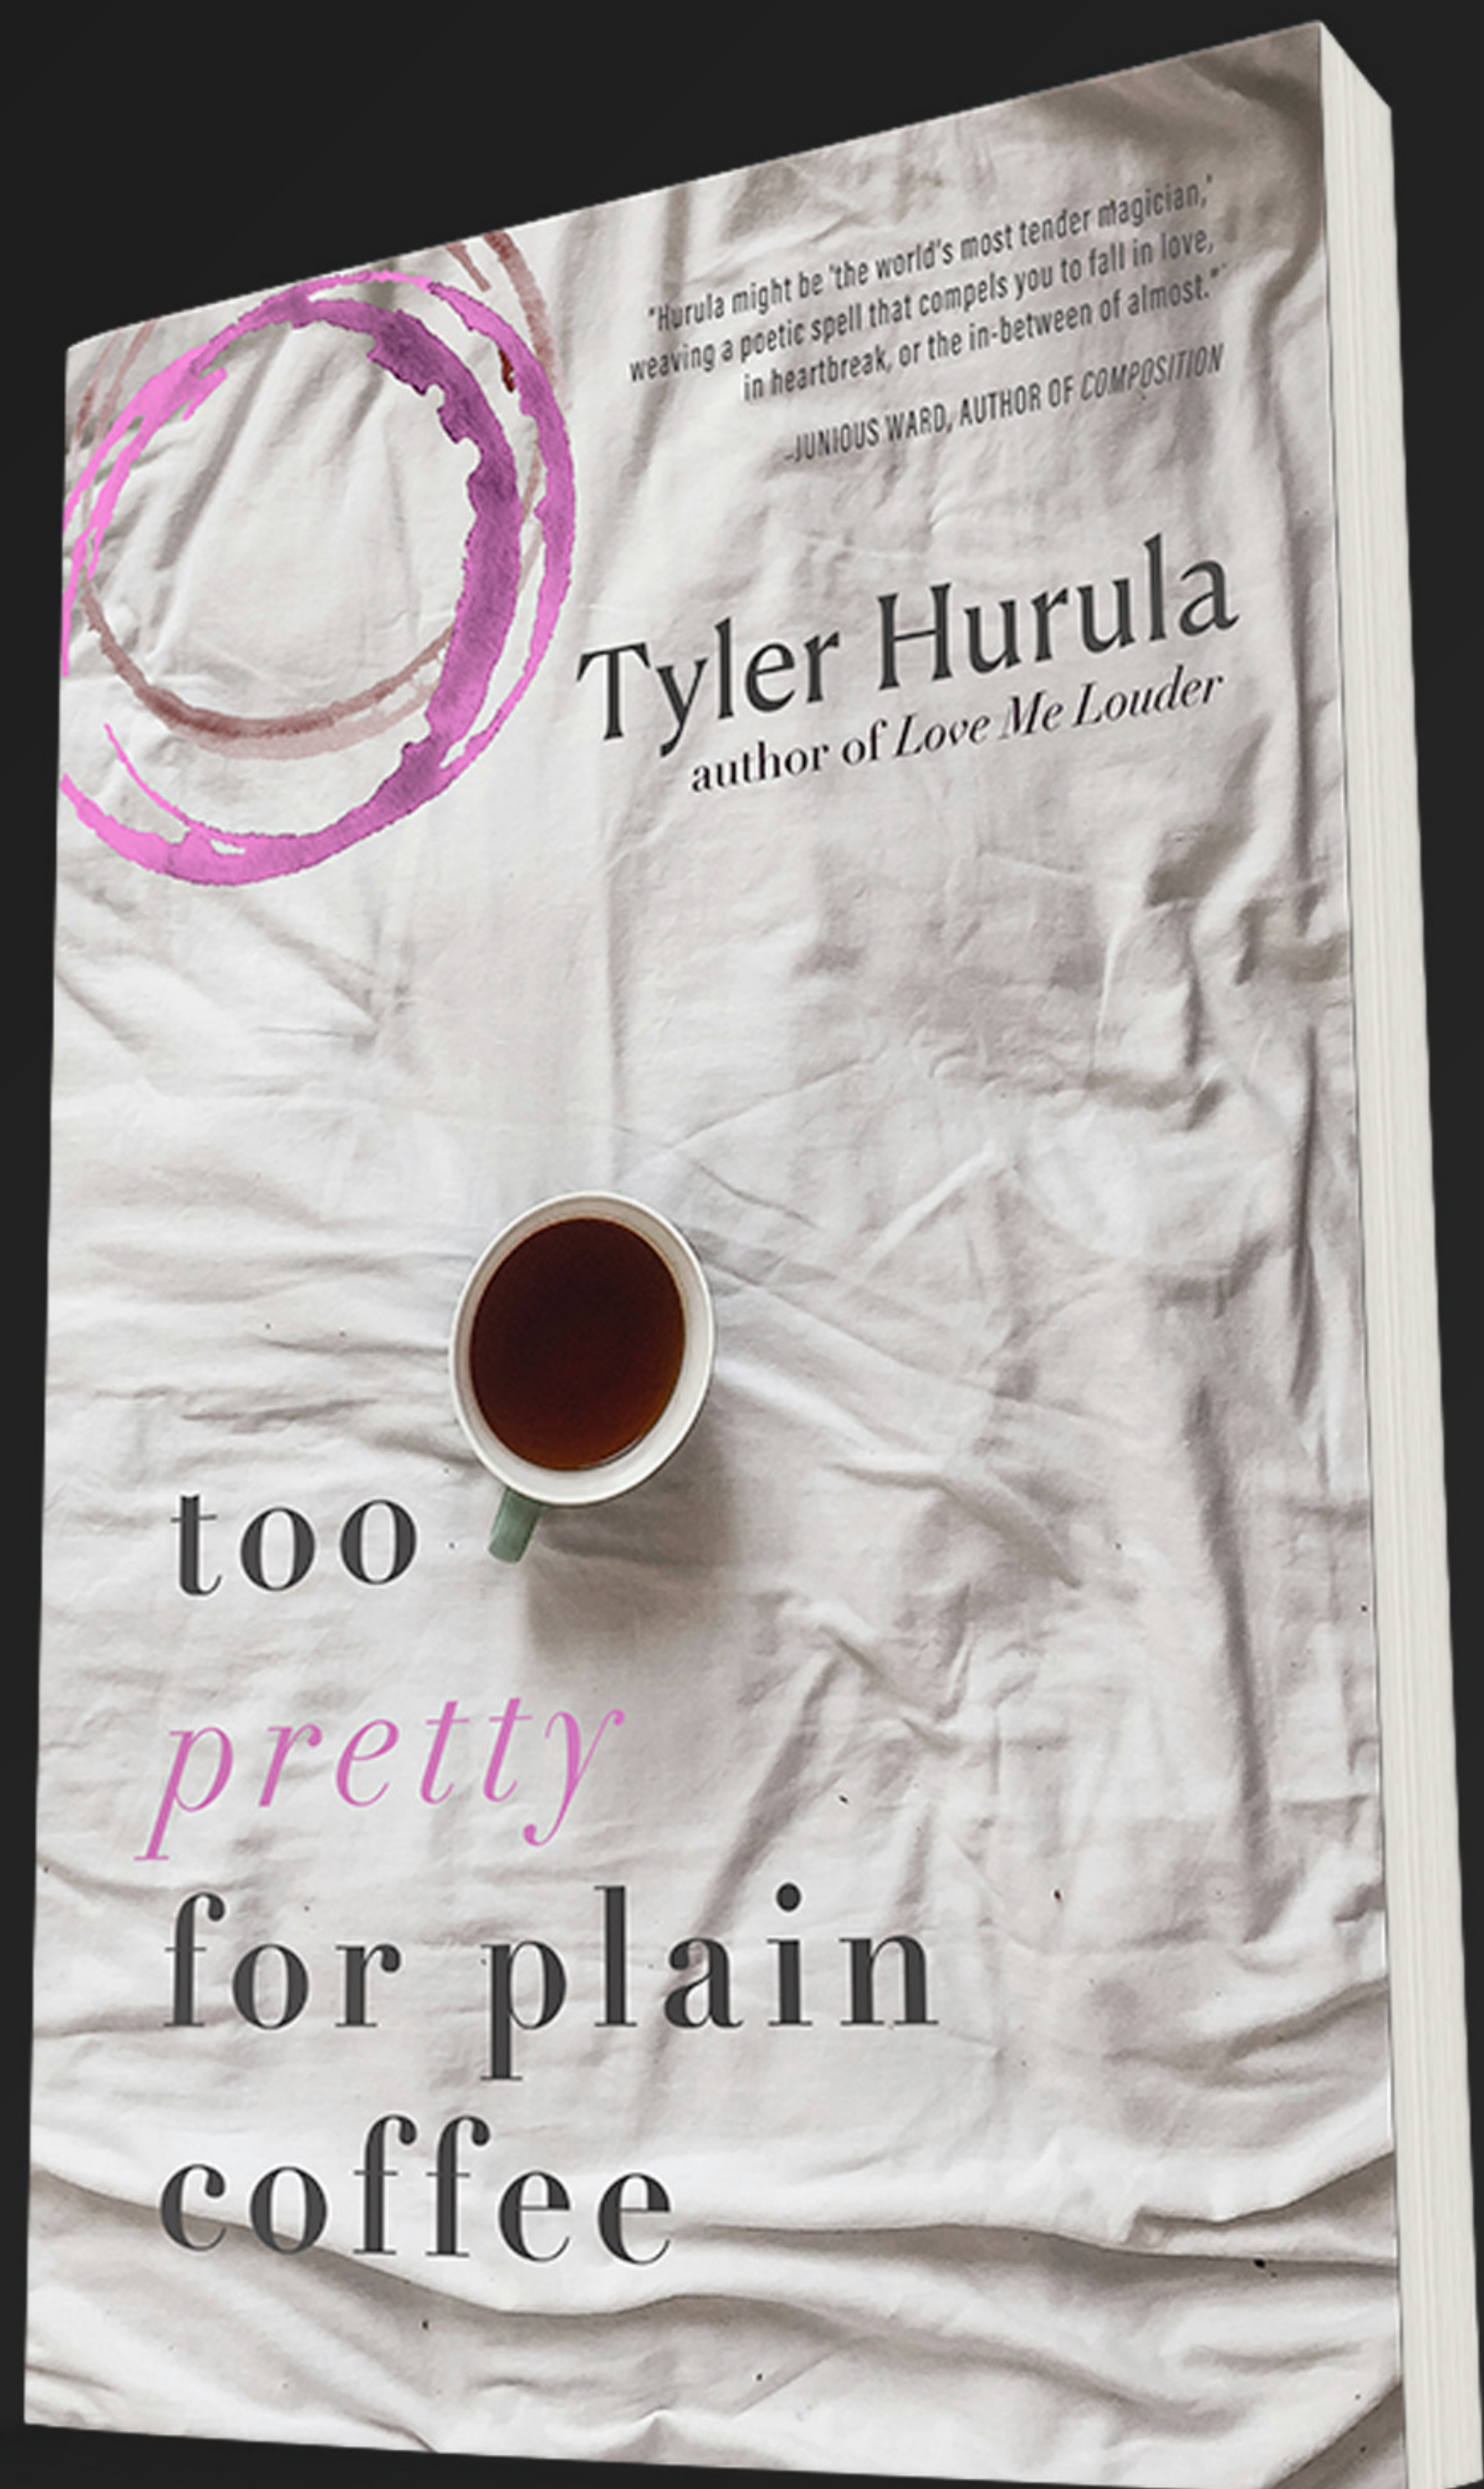

too pretty for plain coffee

POEMS BY Tyler Hurula

"Tyler Hurula might be 'the world's most tender magician,' weaving a poetic spell that compels you to fall in love, in heartbreak, or the in-between of almost. Too Pretty for Plain Coffee is a romantic stream of beautiful punches that bruise and balm. Its passion winds and unravels, simmers and swells, recoils and strikes gorgeous. What I am most enchanted by in this collection is its simultaneous devotion to the familiar and to 'sudden and infinite newness.'

A fresh and energizing debut!"

—Junious Ward, author of Composition

TYLER HURULA (SHE/THEY) is the pinkest poet in Denver, Colorado. She strives to be the most queer and polyamorous person they can be. Author of Love Me Louder (Querencia Press). She has been nominated for Best of the Net and Pushcart Prizes. Find her on Instagram @theprettypinkpoet.

Published by Wayfarer Books

PBK 978-1-965320-30-3 / List $18

Pub: April 29, 2025 / Trade Paperback / 120pp / 6 x 9

Contact: wayfarer@homeboundpublications.com

All Wayfarer titles are globally distributed by Ingram.

We offer the Standard Trade Discount & Full Returnability.

